The Institute of Social and Cultural Studies (ISCS) as a part of its initiatives and series of Talks on contemporary issues organized yet another captivating session on Eastern Frontier Challenges: India's Tactical and Strategic Response on the evening 26th July 2025 at ISCS's interactive zone itself.

The Talk initiated with introductory note by the Director of the Institute, Shri Arindam Mukherjee who underlined institute's varied curve of work focussing on the Eastern frontier, North East and neighbourhood precisely. The motion was then taken over by the speaker of the event Shri Subir Bhowmik, renowned journalist and a policy analyst with deep experience on strategic analysis circling eastern corridor of the country.

The event followed Chatham House Guidelines, the participants of the event comprised of eminent policy makers, academicians and prominent civil society actors. The event turned out to be very enriching as the deliberation by the speaker followed by the interactive session brought about certain key issues.
